Dr. Normand J. Belliveau, MD, FRCSC, FACS, FACP, FICS

CMA President, 1967-68
Université Laval, 1946
General surgery

Dr. Belliveau was a World War II veteran who served as President of the Quebec Medical Association and Canadian Medical Protective Association before becoming President of the CMA. His obituary in CMAJ stated: “In 1958 he was one of the seven physicians who launched the Canadian Medical RSP Fund, which is now known as MD Financial Management, a CMA subsidiary that has more than $38 billion in assets under administration. As president of the CMA during its centennial year, he was delegated to be Queen Elizabeth’s second surgeon during her visit to Expo 67. His keen interest in breast cancer led him to open his own breast centre in 1969, and to abandon radical mastectomies and advocate for lumpectomies as the treatment of choice for the disease. He was also the first francophone to practise at the Royal Victoria Hospital in Montréal.”
