Dr. James E. Graham, MD, LRCP

CMA President, 1886
University of Toronto, 1870
General practice, dermatology

Dr. Graham, who practised in Toronto throughout his career, was described in the Canadian Dictionary of Biography as “the father in this country of clinical teaching.” He served as President of the Ontario Medical Association before taking over the CMA’s top position, and also was President of the American Dermatological Association and a professor of clinical medicine at the University of Toronto. He was also a close friend of another CMA President, Sir William Osler. He died in 1899.
